Your Enterprise Knowledge Management Platform

Imagine extracting your organization's corporate knowledge from your subject-matter experts directly into an effective training and communication template that is rolled-out immediately across the organization, across the globe and across time zones.

Your people learn it, remember it, and easily access it when the project needs arise. Forget the days of trainers traveling from office to office to deliver the same training at every site, or investing time in linear videos, webinars and memos, only for the knowledge to vanish when it's needed most.

The Generator

An exceptionally effective authoring and publishing tool, The Generator is a cloud-based software that connects subject-matter experts to a collaborative course building process. The intuitive drag-and-drop user interface is easy to use, not requiring specialized skill sets in eLearning design and methodology, or courses on how to use the software. Knowledge management no longer needs to be a complex process. Now anyone can effectively and professionally communicate their proprietary knowledge through Global eTraining's proven course templates and scalable platform.

Rotating, Grouping, and Arraying

Out of all the other basic modifying tools we could address in this lecture, the Rotate tool is perhaps the most unique. Rotating elements in Revit is not quite the same as in other applications like AutoCAD. Click Let me Try to step through a simple exercise to explore the various ways of rotating content.
